Hadley Matarazzo oversees Faraci Lange's Defective Drug and Medical Device Practice. She handles all types of personal injury cases and focuses her legal practice on toxic torts, environmental law, medical malpractice, and products liability. She has extensive experience handling complex litigation, including serving in court appointed leadership positions in multi-district litigation (MDL) in federal court and multi-county litigation (MCL) in New Jersey. Hadley also had the lead trial case in the DePuy ASR MDL in which the first round global settlement was announced in the fall of 2013.

Please visit our Defective Drug & Medical Device page for more information about the drugs and medical device cases Hadley is litigating and investigating.
